Last Rotary Meeting

Our club members and visiting guests had the honour to hear from Erin Taylor the Pastoral Care Worker from Barmera Primary School. Her role takes her to 2 other Primary Schools in the Riverland, Glossop and Monash. Her role does not just include working with the children, but the staff as well who would find treats in their pigeon holes for Good Will, up lift and support them in their most important roles. Teaching.

There are 17 schools in the Riverland with Pastoral Care Workers. One of these schools where Erin served, was at St Alberts Primary School in Loxton for 6 years.

One of the activities which was instigated by Erin was to make clay hands, they were to be placed in a spot where a communal bench seat was once situated. Adults and students have been able to contribute their hands.

Another activity undertaken, as each pre-schooler attended Barmera Primary School was that, as they began their primary years, they had the opportunity to make a clay footstep. These would be placed in a path from their classroom to their pickup point. How wonderful to have created their own path to find their way back to their parents at the end of the day.

Erin Taylor is a potter in her home life, she teaches pottery and does it to relax and satisfy the urge to be creative. When she applied for the position as Pastoral Care Worker in Barmera, and became successful in the position, there was a restored Pottery Shed at the school. It had been restored by a previous Teacher and was keen to keep it going. Erin being a potter herself knew how to utilise this precious resource.
